

Wildfire

Bush Plane Object Theater (2011)
Canadian Heritage Bushplane Centre
Sault Ste Marie, Ontario

In this high-flying object theater, audiences take off and fly into the heart of a major forest fire and are given an unforgettable look at how fires are fought and ultimately controlled. The show delivers heart-stopping footage of real fires and a heart-warming story that has tremendous emotional impact as well as being richly informative.

Visitors feel the rush of adrenaline as the searing drama unfolds. They ride along with the “bird dog”, or fire spotter, as he directs the firefighting operation from high above the blaze, and then they swoop down on it in the world’s most sophisticated water bomber.

Task accomplished, the audience arrives safely home, having been a passenger on an amazing high-flying journey.

Media Solutions

Replicated weather effects
High definition video
Objects illustrate the high-flying storyline

Footprint 1,500 sq. ft.
Seating 30 - 50 guests
Value $550,000